UNIFORM DRESS FOR H. S. GIRLS

As it had often been expressed among the girls that they wished there was uniform dress in the High School. Some of the Senior girls took it upon themselves to try and bring it about.

They prepared a paper on which they wrote several arguments for uniform dress. They took this to Mr. Bowers and after it had met with his approval they posted it in on the Bulletin board. It remained there for a few days during which time it was read and discussed by the girls of the High School. A meeting was then called and votes cast. Out of eighty-one votes, sixty-five were in favor of uniforms and sixteen against it. Then the question arose as to when they should be adopted. So another meeting was held and all voted on the time. The majority voted for in favor of waiting until next spring owing to the fact that so many had already purchased their winter dresses. No definite agreement has been made as to the color of the uniforms but they will be skirts and middles.

CAPITAL RETURNED

Bankers Regain Capital, But Bank Remains Missing. Capital Confiscated.

Tuesday morning the students were overjoyed to hear that the banking firm of Carter & Williams, had recovered their capital. Mr. Hamm succeeded in tracing its funds but the Bank is still missing. However the firm, not to be outdone, confiscated the Capital under the laws governing All Sand Banks. Some of the depositors are heavy losers. A certain Senior reports the loss of three cents.

However, the firm will, with a the confiscated deposits, erect a new Bank. It is hoped, however, Mr. Hamm will be able also to recover the Bank.

LEXINGTON GAME

The game Friday with Lexington constituted our first defeat this year. The score being 13 to 0. We were one of the few teams in the state that had not been defeated and had it not been for Lexington we believe that we would have finished the season undefeated.

Lexington's great weight decided the game as they made nearly all their gain on line plunges. However, they played good football and we are satisfied with the score as they beat us 66 to 0 last year.

Stubby and Layman did good work in the line but were to far outweighed. succeeded in stopping many plays thru his center position and Specks tackling saved us from worse defeat many times.

Arapahoe kicked off. Lexington was forced to punt. Arapahoe then punted. Lexington failed to gain and had to punt to Arapahoe, who punted back. Lexington then made a first and ten but were again forced to punt. They recovered the fumbled punt for another first and ten.

Time was called for quarter, score 0-0.

Lexington made consistent gains through the line and soon had a touchdown. They made a place-kick on try-for-point. Score 7-0.

Arapahoe kicked off and Lexington made their gains until they were near the goal when they tried a place kick but failed. Arapahoe's ball on the 20 yard line. Lexington was penalized 15 yards.

Arapahoe kicked off. Lexington made their gains until near the goal line when they were forced to kick. They made a place-kick. Score 10-0.

Arapahoe kicked off. Lexington was forced to punt. They were penalized 5 yards and Arapahoe made 1st and ten but were then forced to punt. Lexington made 1st and ten. Time was called for quarter. Score 10 to 0.

Arapahoe's line-up was the same as in the previous games.

A game was scheduled with Beaver City for Armistice Day but they cancelled the game. Coach Rouse is trying to get a game here instead but has been unsuccessful thus far.

SENIOR PARTY

Monday evening the Seniors assembled at the school house and from there they departed in cars for "Ghosts Hall", at the home of Allen Chambers. Here they were to have a masquerade party. But eventually some thought their natural looks were mask enough for only part of the bunch wore costumes.

Several of the boys did their part by dressing up as clowns and making amusement for the fest, which was much appreciated.

The usual party games were played until all grew tired and desired something more exciting. This they certainly got when they visited the death cell, and since this in itself was not enough some of the girls made some "real excitement" when they took hold of the dead man's hand.

Then someone suggested "eats" and a delicious lunch was served. The lunch consisted of sandwiches, pickles, apple salad, pumpkin pie and coffee. After all had stored away as much food as possible, they departed for home hoping to have another good party soon.

On Friday, the Thirteenth

The old, old stories of the House that Jack Built and of Cocky Locky, may have been suggested by some such series of accidents as this one, which a Michigan newspaper records.

"While Henry Weaver of Grand Junction, was trimming a tree over a pig pen, he fell off a branch on a pig and killed it and at the same time broke both his own legs. The commotion frightened a colt, which jumped a fence and ran into a clothes line that was fastened to a post. The post pulled ou and hurtled through the air and struck a cow and killed her. The colt ran into a barbed-wire fence and was so badly hurt that it will die. The veterinarian, while he was hurrying to file injured animal, or Mr. Weaver's dog and killed it.

A boy sat on a rail fence inclosing a cornfield. A city chap started to kid him.

"Your corn looks kind of yellow, Bub."

"Yep, that's the kind we planted," said Bub.

"Don't look like you'll get more than half a crop," said the city chap.

"Nope, the landlord gets the other half," said Bub.

This took the city chap back a bit and finally he said: "You're not far from a fool are you, Bub?"

"Nope, not more'n ten feet," said Bub.

The City Chap passed on.

SENIOR NOTES

We are glad to say that some of our class were exempted from quarterly exams.

It was the last lecture of the quarter and Mr. Bowers was urging the students to put all their time into preparation for the quarterly examinations. "The questions for the examination are now in the hands of the printer" he said, "Now are there any more questions you want answered at this time?"

"Who is the printer?"

Do You Ever Expect

- Verne to grow a mustache.
- Muriel to be bashful.
- Marjorie to whisper.
- Allan to be a prize-fighter.
- Thelma to be unpopular.
- Clifford to be good.
- Mathilda to lose her rosy cheeks.
- Melba to wear a middle.
- Leroy and Lois to "make up."
- Greta to be an "old maid."
- Eleanor to forget Orin.
- Elmer to study hard.
- Irma to be a flirt.
- Pearl to have to take exams.
- Frank to be a mathematician.
- Iva to grow thin.
- Fern to be six feet tall.
- Bessie to quit studying.
- Lawrence to forget his lost neighbor.
- Vera to forget her curls.
- George to be an orator.
- Minnie to quit curling her hair.

Last week a meeting was held at which the girls of the High School were present and discussed the uniform dress idea. Then all voted upon it and were counted. It was found that out of eighty-one votes, sixty-five were in favor of it and sixteen against it. Another meeting will be held soon to see whether the uniform dresses shall be worn now or in the spring.

Wednesday morning at the close of Chapel Period a grave silence prevailed over the Assembly room. And everyone grew solemn and pale as Mr. Bowers proceeded to the front of the room and began to relate what was written on a slip of paper which he held in his hand. This paper held a list of the names of all those people who were exempted from quarterly examinations, so far as department was concerned.

There is a certain girl in our class who thinks Mr. Hamm has eyes in the back of his head. I wonder why.

To the Faculty:
 We, the members of the Senior Class, request that you tell us before the next time, that by being good and studying hard we can get out of exams, because we didn't want to be "good for nothin'" and therefore some of us had to take exams.

Greta in a stage whisper: "I know, but I can't tell."
 Miss Berglund: "Under oath!"

Professional Training Class has finished the study of psychology and is now ready to take up principles of teaching and observation.

Eleanor Herrick taught the first and second grades, Friday afternoon.

What has become of the assembly room cats?

Tuesday morning every member of the Civics Class registered, then in the afternoon each one cast their vote but of course only on sample ballots.

STOCKVILLE BATTLE

Some time ago Coach Rouse promised the Second Team some games and so he got one with the Cambridge Reserves, which resulted in a score of 13 to 0 in favor of Cambridge. He later scheduled a game with Stockville for Friday, Nov. 3. This encouraged several new men to come out to practice which afforded plenty of material for a second team.

The game was called at 2:15 and Baxter kicked off for Arapahoe. After a short time Stockville punted over the goal line which gave the ball to Arapahoe on their 20-yard line. Arapahoe lost the ball on downs. Stockville fumbled and "Heinie" Meyers recovered the ball and raced 55 yards for a touchdown. Baxter failed on try for point.

Arapahoe kicked off again and Stockville decided to try the aerial route for a touchdown and succeeded in completing a pass but Gamel, at half back intercepted the next and spoiled Stockville's plans. Arapahoe fumbled and Stockville recovered. This time they tried line plunges and were more successful, making a touchdown. They failed on try for point. This tied the score 6 to 6.

Arapahoe kicked off and Stockville failed to make any gains so punted. The quarter was then called. Score 6 to 6.

Arapahoe failed to make downs so punted. Stockville made first and ten twice and then were forced to punt. Arapahoe failed to make downs and so punted. Stockville was penalized 15 yards. They again tried some passes but could not complete them and were forced to punt. The half ended, score 6-6.

Arapahoe kicked off. Stockville again tried the aerial route but still without success losing the ball on downs. Smith made an end run and got away for 40 yards. Arapahoe was again forced to punt. The ball went over the goal line and was given to Stockville on the 20 yard line. They pass to Smith which netted 35 yards. Arapahoe then lost the ball on downs. The quarter was called, score 6-6.

Stockville then lost the ball on downs. Baxter then made another pass to Smith for 30 yards. Arapahoe fumbled and Stockville recovered. Perry substituted for Koelmel. Stock-

JUNIOR CLASS NOTES

The European History class finished in the first nine weeks the first two chapters of the book but hope to accomplish more in the next nine weeks.

The manual training boys have started to work on the hard wood for their furniture and so far have not found it as hard as they expected.

The Latin III class is having the pleasure of translating the story of Hercules.

There has been a good number of boys out to football practice last week but we would like to see a few more out so as we can have enough for two teams.

The Junior Class held a Hallowe'en party at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Utterback on Saturday evening, Oct. 28th. After quite a bit "o' chasin' around" we finally got started at about 7:30 to journey to that distant land. The roads were very rough and dusty and after losing each other several times, the entire bunch arrived at the appointed place and hour ???

After being relieved of wraps and dust we were ushered into a spacious basement where witches, ghosts and black cats held sway. Here we played games until the young lady in charge of the "eats" summoned us to the dining room, where a sumptuous three course banquet was served which consisted of: Oyster Soup, celery, crackers, olives, scalloped potatoes, sandwiches, chicken salad, cocoa, fruit salad, Angel Food cake.

After each one had had a glimpse into the future by the interpretation of the meaning of the articles found in the "fortune cake" and the verses on the place cards, we sang songs, played games and told ghost stories until everybody voted that it was time to cease festivities and depart. "Cos" little folks like we 'uns shouldn't keep late hours and besides we were many miles from home. "Only fourteen" Tommy U. says, but most of the Juniors thot that it must be fifty. Ask Duke.

The Sophomore class decided to have a Hallowe'en party and Clark Samson said that we might have it at his home Wednesday night so Wednesday evening we went out to Clark's and as soon as all had arrived we played games, one of which was so rough we all got black eyes. The boys especially enjoyed some of the others but the girls were somewhat embarrassed. A few regular Hallowe'en spooks were seen around the house but as it grew late they disappeared. About ten o'clock a dainty lunch consisting of sandwiches, pickles, apple pie, apple sluff and cocoa was served. After this we left for our homes. The Sophomore class wishes to extend their hearty thanks to their hostess for the royal manner in which they were entertained.

We wonder if the Sophomore girls think that they are getting to their second childhood as indicated by the recent out burst of gorgeous hair ribbons.

The manual training class is getting along very well on their hard-wood work. Mr. Rouse leaving has inconvenienced us but "Andy" is proving a very capable teacher.

We had Blue Monday the other day. Because it was Wash day?
No.

Mary: Did you follow my advice of counting until you went to sleep?
 Speck: Yes, I counted 20, 372.
 Mary: And then did you sleep?
 Speck: No, it was time to get up.

Harold Lloyd has nothing on us since Heinle got his "specs."

English III Class is well started in the poem "Lancelot and Elaine." There are many hearty arguments concerning the characters of the poem and we believe that we understand all of them now. Mr. Bowers is taking Mr. Rouse's place while he is gone.

When alone in school "they" sit, And they're very tired of it. They have just to write a note, and then they go to class.

But the teacher soon comes along That's the end of their little song. Then to another desk he looks, To keep the kid from throwin' books, His back is turned so here "they" start, Just like before,—actin' smart. But when anybody hear boom On that other side of the room, They do not stop to think who it is, For they always know without a quiz But we'll tell the outsiders for their benefit, Why its always the Freshies you can bet.

Just a little Senior, Actin' very ill, Just a little Junior Lookin' like a pill, Just a little Sophie Sittin' very still, Just a little Freshie, Oh! — My —

Hurrah! for the Seniors, Hurrah! for the Juniors, Hurrah! for the Sophies Hurrah! But for the Freshies, We'll all say, Oh, Dear, And that's too much, we fear.

If a certain Senior was bright, Acertain Junior'd been right. When he said in fright, "It's late in the night, And they've put out the light, So its much too dark to fight."

The A. H. S. wish that the Freshies would choose the motto B2 for we think it would suit them providing "headed" was added. Also we've noticed that they have all taken to parting their hair but never mind that, every block has its alley.

Doran suggests that the following list of books would be much more appropriate for book review than the ones Miss Bergland has assigned.

The Hope Chest by Ida Dora Mann.
 Ice Payne by Etta Greenapple.

The Gentleman by Lida Lott.
 The Gentleman by Herter A. Little.

The Fool's Parting by Lotta Munn.
 She and the Shiek by Rita Lotta Gush.

The Lady and the Osteopath by Willie Goods.

The Silken Sweater by Fitzhugh Snugg.

Whiskers by Barbara Mann.
 Why did he propose? by Rennie Day
 Will He Marry Her? by Betty Caesar First.

When Pa Found Out by Margot Herz.

Beryl C. (trying to run down civics class): "You're a funny judge, I suppose all you judge is dogs and cats."
 Thelma d'Al.—"Sure, Come on in!"

Miss Bergland: "Kenneth K. what are the most used words in our language?"
 Kenneth: "I don't know."
 Miss Bergland: "Correct."

The titles of the books for the Book Reviews have been given out in English IV class and most of them have been secured. A few of the students have finished reading their book and Warren G. reports that he has read 129 pages of the "Crisis" and it has not become interesting as yet. "You are hard to interest, Warren."

Some of the girls appear "very aristocratic" when they adopt the new fad—ear rings—but more so after they recover from the epidemic. Its such a relief for the rest of us.

Every town has men who know all about the government in Washington. But don't know how to earn a dollar a day.

LOST—A fountain pen, by a lady half full of ink.

FOUND—A watch, by a man with a cracked face.

FOR SALE—A folding bed by a lady that doubles up and locks like a piano.
